

Output Application

This type of analysis aids in assessing the locational suitability of both existing and proposed Faecal Sludge Treatment Plant (FSTP) sites. Based on the results, areas outside of smooth travel distances might consider the possibility of implementing transfer stations or additional treatment facilities, contingent on the volume of sludge generated from their respective settlement areas. This spatial understanding provides a comprehensive approach for faecal sludge management planning and implementation across the city.

Revision #1

Created 21 May 2024 09:22:22

Updated 28 January 2025 05:17:37