

Output Application

Location-based information can assist in tracking the evolution of improved containment systems over time. Such data also offers crucial insights for shaping city sanitation regulations, thereby facilitating an understanding of overall containment improvement objectives and designing service-level benchmarks for ongoing monitoring. Moreover, this information can be integrated with building bye-laws to ensure the selection of contextually appropriate containment systems in all future construction projects.

Revision #2

Created 21 May 2024 08:56:02

Updated 28 January 2025 05:17:37